

Social Media Management Program

Overwhelmed With Social Media?

Social networking sites have exploded in popularity in recent years, transforming the way contractors and homeowners communicate with one another over the Internet. Every day, companies utilize social networking sites, such as Facebook, Twitter and LinkedIn to connect with hundreds of millions of online consumers. Why aren't you?

At Footbridge Media, we understand the importance of social media, but also know that our clients are too busy running their business then to spend time tweeting, posting on Facebook and managing their entire social profiles. That is why we have created a monthly add-on program only offered to Footbridge Media Clients in good standing.

Though our complete marketing program entails some social networking involved, managing social profiles and optimization and engagement is currently a service that we have not offered until now.

Management Program Includes:
